

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA

STAY THE COURSE WEST VIRGINIA, a West Virginia unaffiliated independent expenditure political action committee;
DAVID BAILEY, in his capacity as Chairman and Treasurer of Stay the Course West Virginia;
PINEVILLE LUMBER, INC., a West Virginia
Corporation; and THOMAS STEPHEN BAILEY,

Plaintiffs,

v.

Civil Action No. 1:12-cv-01658

NATALIE E. TENNANT, in her official capacity as West Virginia Secretary of State and member of the West Virginia State Election Commission; and SCOTT ASH, in his official capacity as the Prosecuting Attorney for Mercer County, West Virginia, as a representative of the class of all
West Virginia Prosecuting Attorneys,

Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

Plaintiffs, by counsel, state the following as their motion for a preliminary injunction:

1. Plaintiffs allege in their Complaint (Doc. 1) that their First Amendment rights to free speech are violated by certain provisions of the West Virginia Code and West Virginia Code of State Rules, and certain "policies" stated on the official website for the West Virginia Secretary of State, which prohibit corporations from making contributions to independent expenditure political action committees, prohibit independent expenditure political action committees from soliciting or accepting corporate contributions, and/or prohibit individuals and corporations from contributing more than $1,000 per person per election to independent expenditure political action committees.

2. The Secretary of State has declared that her website is for public information purposes only, and that the publications attached to the Complaint as EXHIBIT E and EXHIBIT F are not intended as statements of policy. (Answer of Natalie E. Tennant, West Virginia Secretary of State ("Answer") (Doc. 11) at ¶ 21.)

3. The Secretary of State has admitted that the West Virginia Code was amended in 2010 so as to no longer prohibit corporate contributions to political action committees that are not affiliated with any candidate or candidate's campaign; that the West Virginia Code prohibits only corporate contributions to candidates and candidate's committees; and that the legislative rules prohibiting corporate contributions to independent expenditure political action committees are unenforceable. (Answer at ¶¶ 19-20, 36, 38, and 39.)

4. As a result of the admissions made by the Secretary of State, the only contested issue in this matter is whether the West Virginia $1,000 per person per election limit on political contributions is unconstitutional as applied to independent expenditure political action committees and the individuals and corporations that wish to contribute to such committees.

5. Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable harm of a significant magnitude if the Defendants are not preliminarily enjoined from enforcing the $1,000 per person per election political contribution limit so as to limit contributions by individuals and corporations to independent expenditure political action committees.

6. Defendants will not suffer any irreparable harm if a preliminary injunction is granted in this matter.

7. Plaintiffs will likely prevail on the merits of this case as a matter of law.

8. The public interest will be served by the issuance of a preliminary injunction prohibiting the enforcement of the challenged provisions as to the Plaintiffs and others similarly situated.

WHEREFORE, for the reasons stated above, which are more fully discussed in the accompanying Memorandum, Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court preliminarily enjoin the Defendants from applying and enforcing West Virginia Code §§ 3-8-12(f) and 3-8-12(g) (2011) and West Virginia Code of State Rules § 146-3-5.2 (2008) so as to place any limitation on contributions from individuals and corporations to Stay the Course West Virginia, an independent expenditure political action committee.
